With its dramatic rocky landscapes, rich history and hidden gems, the Cederberg is one of the Western Cape's best-loved getaways. Discover the fascinating stories, remarkable people, back-road adventures and lesser-known treasures of this mountain sanctuary, as David and Tony share insights from the newly released, Guide to the Cederberg.

David Bristow is a travel journalist, environmental scientist, storyteller and specialist tour guide who has spent more than 40 years exploring Africa. A former editor of Getaway magazine, he has authored over 30 books on southern African natural history and cultural heritage. An avid mountain biker, David has a particular affinity for the Cederberg and knows its highways, byways and back roads intimately.

Tony Makin is a retired veterinarian and accomplished photographer with a passion for the natural world. His photography spans landscapes, wildlife and marine life, with a particular interest in the diverse ecosystems of the Western Cape. His striking photography brings the landscapes and character of the Cederberg to life.

Shafiq Morton is an award-winning Cape Town-based photojournalist, radio presenter, author and avid surfer. His work has taken him to Lebanon, Pakistan, Libya, Saudi Arabia and Somalia. He has authored six books, the latest being The Circles of the Saints, Stories of the Kramats at the Cape.
